COMING EVENTS

NOVEMBER GENERAL MEETING - SEXUAL VIOLENCE: CHANGING THE CULTURE #letsstarttheconversation

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 21 at 12:30 PM

The FBI recognizes sexual assault as the second most violent crime; the first is murder. The impact on victims can be devastating.

What can be done?? What can we do??

We need to raise awareness about changing the culture of sexual violence.

The Department of Education stresses the importance of addressing sexual violence within K-12 schools. We must begin the conversation with the education of our young people. It must begin in our schools, on our college campuses and in our homes. As parents and grandparents, there are ways we can start the conversation with our children and grandchildren.

Come hear our distinguished panel of counselors and educators present their expertise on this issue and share what they are doing in their agencies and schools to change the culture of this pervasive problem.

- Assemblywoman Valerie Vainieri Huttie
- Patricia Teffenhart, Executive Director, NJ Coalition Against Sexual Assault; Co-Chair, NJ Taskforce on Sexual Assault
- Helen Archontou, CEO, YWCA Bergen County
- Liz Corsini, Vice President-Program Director, Bergen Family Center
- Coach Barry Harris, Head of Security, Englewood Public Schools
- Elke Stein, Director of Domestic Violence and Sexual Abuse Services, Project S.A.R.A.H., Jewish Family Service and Children's Center of Clifton-Passaic.

QUEEN(S) FOR A DAY: Two Guided Tours, Puppets, Painting, Sculpture and Lunch!

Join us on November 16 for a culturally-rich and diverse day in Queens. The bus will leave Temple Emeth at 9:30 am sharp and return around 5 pm. Please arrive by 9:15 am.

At the Museum of the Moving Image, we will explore the brand new, dynamic Jim Henson Exhibition and view nearly 300 objects including 47 puppets. What makes this special for us is that Dale Friedman, son of Marilyn Friedman, Co-Vice President for Advocacy and Education, was on the design team that created the interactive experience.

At MoMa PS1, the contemporary arm of the Museum of Modern Art, we will view two new exhibits: Carolee Schneeman: Kinetic Painting, art focused on subjectivity, social views of the female body and the sexual and cultural biases of art history; and Cathy Wilkes, sculptural installations inspired by the personal and universal aspects of domestic life. We will enjoy a three-course lunch at Monika's Café in Astoria.

The cost is $90 for members and $100 for non-members (if space permits). Make check payable to NCJW BCS and mail it with the completed registration form to NCJW BCS, 75 S. ## PHILANTHROPY / MEMBERSHIP

YOU MADE IT POSSIBLE!

You've all received the beautiful 95th Anniversary Stay-at-Home Invitation and hopefully have generously responded or will be doing so shortly. We want you to know that because of your wonderful generosity last year, the section was able to provide over $50,000 in sorely needed funds to 17 community services here and in Israel. This year, we have budgeted even more!

In addition, we sponsored a highly successful community-wide forum on LGBT Equality and continued to urge our lawmakers to pass laws affecting issues which we support.

Please help us keep up these important activities by contributing to this year's Stay-at-Home Ball and honor the 95 years of the section's efforts to improve the quality of the lives of women, children and families in Bergen County.

HOLIDAY GIFTS

At holiday time the National Council of Jewish Women Bergen County Section collects small gifts and gift cards for the children and families served by our community services and coalition partners, including the Center for Hope and Safety, Bergen Family Center, Youth Consultation Services, and Jewish Family Services. The gifts can range from Target gift cards ($10 each for the children of Holley and Kilbarchan) to toys and clothing. HIPPIY requests unwrapped gifts suitable for preschoolers — but no stuffed toys, please.

Bring your gifts to Game Day on November 7, or to our Open Board Meeting on December 14, or give them to a friend on the board. For more information, contact Henrietta Wolfeiler at b.wolfeiler3@verizon.net or 201-996-0932, or Evalyn Brownstein at teaneckeab@gmail.com or 201-836-9444.

COUNCIL MEMBERS VISIT BERGEN VOLUNTEER MEDICAL INITIATIVE

In late September NCJW members Sue Kanrich, Peggy Kabakow and Gladys Laden visited the new site location for BVMI (Bergen Volunteer Medical Initiative) on Essex Street in Hackensack. Amanda Missey, President/CEO, met with the Council members prior to touring the facility and discussed how the improvements will benefit the patients. It's a beautiful facility and an amazing accomplishment. It has already experienced a 10% increase in the number of patients served and plans are underway to expand hours.

BVMI provides free primary, sick and chronic care to low-income working Bergen County residents who do not have medical insurance. Individuals/families may earn up to 300 percent of the federal poverty level. NCJW BCS was part of the founding group in 2006 when efforts began to create this free healthcare facility for the working poor. Doors opened in 2009, and the 8th year anniversary was celebrated in September. BVMI continues to be one of NCJW's outstanding community services.

FROM THE CO-PRESIDENTS

By the time our members read this article, the days will be shorter, the nights cooler and the holidays over. The beautiful days of Indian summer will be long gone; geraniums replaced by mums, and Thanksgiving and Hanukkah decorations will be filling store aisles. As the leaves fall around us, there is one week in September that is especially worth noting, and though the specific events may be "old news" come early November, what they represent exemplifies the spirit and activities of NCJW BCS.

At our monthly Board meeting on Tuesday, September 12, we proudly passed the 2017-2018 budget. Loud applause accompanied the vote, because, due to the generosity of our members and the success of the Thrift Shop, we were able to increase our allocations to the vital community services we support. Each of them is struggling under the weight of decreased government allocations and increased need; it felt good to know that the women of NCJW were able to fill even a small part of the gap. If even a few more people can get utility assistance from Center for Food Action, or one or two more children can attend camp next summer, we can feel good.

Your Stay-At-Home invitation has doubtless hit your mailbox; we hope you will give generously to honor Bergen County Section's 95th Birthday and help continue to support our work.

At the back of the room where the Board meeting was held, a table was stacked high with donations of underwear and socks to be shipped to victims of Hurricane Harvey. Council women chipped in yet again.

That same Tuesday evening, several section members joined NCJW women from across the country for an informative and troubling call on reproductive justice, one of our advocacy issues. Lead by National president

Co-presidents: Jane Abraham, Elizabeth Halverstam, Ruth Seitelman

Beatrice Kahn and attorney and advocate Stephanie Toti, we learned how Courts Matter to Reproductive Health, Rights and Justice. There will be work to do; let us know if this is a topic of interest. NCJW BCS is a proud sponsor of "Birthright: A War Story" at the Teaneck Film Festival on Sunday, November 5. Join us there to explore the challenges faced by too many women across the United States.

And Wednesday, September 13 found 15 of us on the Green in Hackensack, hanging T-shirts and listening to poignant stories about sexual abuse and domestic violence. Assemblywoman Valerie Huttie spoke about founding the Clothesline Project nearly 20 years ago; NCJW BCS was there then and continues to work with community partners to keep the topic in the forefront. Our November 21 yearly Advocacy Forum will address Sexual Violence: Changing the Culture. We hope you will be there to #letsstarttheconversation.

Kenneth Jacobson from the ADL spoke eloquently on Resurgent Anti-Semitism on Thursday, September 14. His talk informed and stimulated the large crowd. What we are currently seeing and hearing, he said, is classic right-wing anti-Semitism. The rhetoric, though, has been emboldened by the current climate of public acting out. Yes, we should worry, but more important we need to remain vigilant and act when we see injustice.

The activities mentioned above represent only a small part of the myriad of opportunities available to NCJW BCS members. Whether your passion is community service, advocacy or broadening your mind through General Meetings, Study Groups, trips or symphony, we want to see you and hear from you. Our volunteer organization needs you; join us!

Jane, Elizabeth, and Ruth

TEN MEMBERS PARTICIPATE IN YWCA HEALINGSPACE CLOTHESLINE PROJECT

On September 13, ten of our members participated at the Clothesline Project, a day to raise community awareness of violence against women, men, and children and to demonstrate support for survivors.

NCJW BCS is a long-time supporter of this project, now in its 20th year. Peggy Kabakow proudly wore her T-shirt and silver pin from the 15th annual clothesline project! We were all moved by the survivors' messages on their T-shirts and the devastating impact of sexual assault on their lives. Some were angry; some were hopeful. All were part of the healing process.

We were inspired as Maureen Shaw read her essay Find Your Voice and Carry a Big Sign about her journey from overcoming sexual assault as a teen to becoming an outspoken activist, writer, and mother. New Jersey Senate Majority Leader Loretta Weinberg and Assemblywoman Valerie Vainieri Huttie, both NCJW life members and recipients of the Hannah G. Solomon Award, emphasized the New Jersey legislative and policy advances to protect survivors of sexual assault and their hope that one day the need for this project would at least diminish, if not disappear.

Messages from Survivors

*A Child lost forever.
No-one heard her cries.
Alone, Scarred, and Re-abused.
I've found the courage to heal and survive.*

*No More Second Chances
Your Anger is NOT My Fault
Be Responsible for Your Actions
You Have NO Power over Me*

ADVOCACY / EDUCATION

TAKE ACTION; EXPERIENCE MEMBERSHIP PERKS; BECOME EMPOWERED!

Frustrated by the political climate? Always wanted to be a more powerful advocate for what you believe in? Never really understood the complex court system?

Starting with the new Jewish year, our National organization, NCJW Inc., is launching Tzedek Tzedek Tzedof: Tools for Transformation, a monthly webinar training series on leadership skills. On the third Wednesday of every month, you can learn how to advance social change through advocacy, organizing and media.

NCJW also offers a series of calls on #CourtsMatter. In September, Bergen County Section members who listened to #CourtsMatter and Reproductive Rights valued the presentation. The speakers were professional, well-informed and articulate. The next call will be #CourtsMatter and Religious Liberty.

We encourage all members to participate in these free programs. Here are the steps to take.

1. Take Action as noted in the box below by signing up for NCJW's Action Center and requesting the Washington Weekly E-Newsletter.
2. Experience Membership Perks; watch your inbox for announcements and register for these programs.
3. Become Empowered. Listen to the call or webinar and email us your impressions.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

SCHOOL IS IN SESSION AND THAT MEANS HOMEWORK

NCJW BCS, in collaboration with Bergen Family Center, is looking for volunteers to work with children ages 3-8 from the Englewood Public and Charter Schools. Whether you have extensive knowledge of a subject or enjoy doing creative projects, there is a need for you. The program takes place at the Grieco School at 50 Durie Avenue, Englewood (near Englewood Hospital) from 4:00-5:30 pm.

Remember, being around children enriches their lives and yours. Contact Phyllis Grossman at 201-819-7329, hawphyllis@aol.com for additional information.

A LITTLE LIGHT MUSIC

The last week in September, NCJW BCS volunteers once again visited with the Seniors at the Bergen Family Center. David Cohain, the husband of NCJW member Cynthia Cohain, serenaded the group on his bassoon. Everyone had a wonderful time. For more information about the Seniors' program at Bergen Family Center, contact Marlene Furer at tennismarl@optimum.net or 201-457-9635, or Phyllis Schriger at Phyllis.Schriger@verizon.net or 201-569-7191.

HELP A WOMAN FEEL BEAUTIFUL

Do you wear makeup? Lipstick? Do some of the cosmetic counters where you shop have promotions and give-aways? When the salesperson hands you a free gift, consider mentioning that, through National Council of Jewish Women, you plan to give it to a shelter for victims of domestic violence who have fled their homes with only the clothes on their backs. Or, to the homeless shelter where women certainly don't have the funds to buy skin cream or body lotion. One of our members did just that recently, and the salesperson was so touched hearing about the need of women right here in Bergen County that she showered our member with freebies.

Try it next time you visit one of the myriad cosmetic counters at our local department store. Bring your bounty to a general meeting and give it to one of the members at the check-in table. They'll make sure it gets to the right people at the Center for Hope and Safety and the homeless shelter in Hackensack. Also remember to keep collecting hotel toiletries for the same clientele. Thank you!

THE NEW NCJW INC. WEBSITE IS NOW LIVE!

If you haven't already seen it, NCJW Inc. (our National organization) has a new website – www.ncjw.org!

Message from NCJW: "We hope you see your own attitudes and aspirations reflected in the bright colors, inspiring photos and stories, and countless opportunities to take bold action. We know NCJW is an integral part of so many of your lives – we're so excited to share our new look and our gratitude for all your advocacy work every single day. We'd like to think we're making Hannah proud, nearly 125 years later. We could not have done any of this without the vision and generosity of Honorary Past President Barbara Mandel. She has inspired this project from the beginning and we worked hard to ensure that it lived up to her high standards." Check it out!

HURRICANES, EARTHQUAKES AND FLOODS, OH MY!

During times of national/international disasters, the question usually arises about donating clothing, shoes, and household goods from Council Thrift Shop. Unless the tragedy occurs locally, like the fire in the Edgewater Avalon apartments in 2015 that displaced over 500 residents, donating bulky, heavy physical items to one central location for distribution to the needy is impractical.

For starters, shipping clothing in bulk containers is expensive and time-consuming. After earthquakes and hurricanes – where buildings have been damaged or destroyed, transportation is difficult, if not impossible, and utility problems prevail – manpower to sort and distribute items is in short supply and urgently needed elsewhere. Emergency items usually shipped in bulk include water, food, and diapers, and often military transport is used to reach disaster-stricken areas.

Most disaster relief organizations like the International Red Cross, JDC, and local Federations suggest that donations of money do the most good. These contributions put your resources and funds to the most effective use. Our collective need to want to help out during disasters is only human. But time, money and distance limit our good intentions.

Please continue your good work in the upcoming year by donating your new/gently used clothing, shoes, furs, accessories, housewares and collectibles to Council Thrift Shop. Your donations not only fulfill your desire to do good deeds but provide the local community with a valuable service as well.
