

Mohammed
Hameeduddin

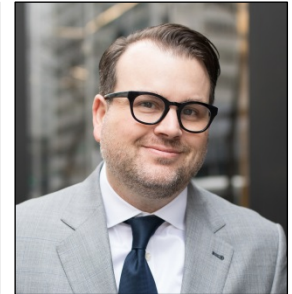

Jared Maples

Pastor Gil Monrose

Lisa Harris Glass

Evan Bernstein

BERGEN INDIVISIBLE
for DEMOCRACY PRESENTS

RSVP HERE

A Communitywide Forum
Hate Has No Place

Tuesday, Oct 29, 7:30 pm, Free and open to the community

AT THE KAPLEN JCC ON THE PALISADES

With growing concern about the dramatic rise in acts of hate, both locally and nationally, we invite you participate in this vital open forum, featuring a panel of esteemed community leaders who will engage in an insightful dialogue regarding issues of hate directed toward Jews, Muslims, African Americans, Hispanics, and other ethnic and minority groups. They will also share their thoughts on what we in our communities can do to make a difference in addressing these virulent issues. The discussion will conclude with an interactive Q&A with the audience.

Panel includes:

- Mohammed Hameeduddin, Mayor of Teaneck
- Jared Maples, Director, New Jersey Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness
- Pastor Gil Monrose, Director/Founder, Faith-Based & Clergy Initiatives, Brooklyn Borough President Office
- Lisa Harris Glass, Chief Planning Officer, Jewish Federation of Northern New Jersey
- Evan Bernstein, panel moderator, New York /New Jersey Regional Director, Anti-Defamation League

A welcome introduction will be given by Lori Sackler, BID President and Founder, and comments by Rabbi David Seth Kirshner, Rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, Closter, and President of the NY Board of Rabbis.

Sponsored by: ACLU-NJ, Anti Defamation League, Bergen Indivisible for Democracy (BID), Congregation Ahavath Torah, Jewish Federation of Northern New Jersey, Kaplen JCC on the Palisades, Moms Demand Action, Muslim Women in Action, National Council of Jewish Women Bergen County Section, Network for Responsible Public Policy, New Jersey Alliance for Immigrant Justice, Pastor Monrose, The Social Responsibilities Council of the Unitarian Society of Ridgewood, Temple Emanu-El, Temple Emeth, Unitarian Universalist Congregation of the Palisades, YWCA Northern New Jersey.