

AT HOME SERIES EVENT

Wednesday, December 9 at 8pm

Join Us for a for a fun-filled discussion with romance novelist Damon Suede.

Register now, before this event fills.

There are only 30 'seats' available.

The cost is $18 per person.

There are two options to register.

Register and purchase tickets online HERE.

Zoom link will be sent to registered attendees
one day prior to the event.

Damon Suede, beyond writing romantic fiction, has been writing for print, stage and screen for over three decades, which is both more and less glamorous than you might imagine. He has graciously agreed to fill the spot and has planned a rather unique event for us.

"Last night I dreamt I went to Manderley again."

From the story's original release in 1938, to its film debut in 1940, and fourteen other adaptations, Daphne du Maurier's Gothic novel Rebecca remains an underrated classic of the 20th century. Why so many adaptations on the stage, in film, and on television? And how does the most recent adaptation (October of this year) stand up to the original novel?

---

We encourage you to get reacquainted with the beloved story. Read the novel (Amazon), watch the Hitchcock film (YouTube), or the new October release so your memories are refreshed (Netflix). Feel free to research other iterations of the story. There is even a 1997 mini-series version with Diana Rigg as Mrs. Danvers (Amazon Prime).